REPORT

All Saints' College, Thiruvananthapuram, established in 1964 by the Congregation of the Carmelite Religious has as its vision and mission, the upliftment of the economically and socially vulnerable coastal regions of South Travancore. Through educating the girl-child, the institution has been able to amplify this vision and mission.

The Indian Institute of Public Administration is one such organisation that has made a singular impact on social and public policy through the way it has trained, nurtured and mentored the impact-makers of public policy and administration in India and the world. Having decades of experience in this fundamental area of nation-building makes the IIPA a committed partner for realizing the fundamental goals of All Saints' College.

The initiative jointly undertaken by the IIPA and All Saints' College on 15 September, 2022 makes the college a part of the national mission of striving for clean coastal areas. Being an institution that is located at a distance of less than 1 kilometer from the coast makes the institution a valuable and relevant stakeholder in the mission. The seminar jointly organised towards the need, impact and relevance of cleaner coasts resonated with the students, a vast majority of whom are from these affected regions. In a session that saw addresses by Mr. Anu S. Nair, Assistant Commissioner, Department of Land Revenue, Government of Kerala and Ms. Deepa Ananthapadmanabhan, Founder-Director, Sustera Foundation. The session

Dr. G. Radhakrishna Kurup, Secretary, IIPA, in his welcome address highlighted the national importance of this initiative and stressed the impact that an initiative like this could make. Dr. Reshmi R. Prasad, Principal, All Saints' College delivered the Presidential address in which she stressed the local and national character of the initiative.

In his Inaugural address, Mr. Anu S. Nair discussed the importance of being aware of climate change as a potent reality in our lives.

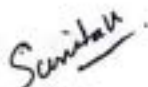

Ms. Ananthapadmanabhan interacted with the students and spoke of the efforts involved in cleaning up the coasts of the country. She stressed on the relevance of young people spearheading these efforts and the need to eliminate the need to clean beaches through a process of responsible pattern of waste disposal.

The students raised important questions regarding volunteering work and the avenues for disposing waste sensitively.

In the feedback obtained from the students, they pointed out the benefits of the initiatives and indicated the nuanced methods of waste disposal and the possibilities of volunteering as some of the most important take aways from the seminar.
