The Chief Guest was Mr. Paul Kronenberg, the co-founder of “Kanthari”. He talked about the importance of overcoming limitations and finding positivity in the face of an adversity- a message that is greatly relevant in the current scenario. As an example he gave the case of visually challenged people, who can focus more on the positive side of matters, are natural problem solvers, and has the power of imagination that leads to innovations. Their life view made it possible for them to find positivity in the darkest of times. He also talked about the importance of time, the need to manage it effectively in order to reach any goal and about the importance of making one’s own decisions, contrary to bending to society’s dictions. He brought about the relevance of the idea by saying that no one has the right to destroy another person’s dreams. He also talked about the importance of taking responsibility for what one chooses to do or not to do.

The talk was followed by a question and answer session which was led by Ms. Sera V. Liza of DC III English Literature. Students quizzed the chief guest on staying optimistic in life, the hindrance faced by student leadership in the face of the pandemic, how to convince the society, especially a conventional one to believe in change and many other questions. The session concluded at 3.30 pm with a vote of thanks by Ms. Rima Suresh of DC III English Literature.
